The New Face of Plastic Surgery in Southern Ontario

EVERY YEAR, thousands of Canadians elect to have cosmetic surgery and, while their reasons for surgery are varied, each faces the same two questions: “Where should I have my surgery?” and “How can I be sure that the surgeon I’m speaking to isn’t just qualified, but capable of achieving the outcome I desire?” For some patients, this search is further complicated if they’re looking to have their surgery performed by a female surgeon. Regardless of personal preference, these are daunting matters for people weighing one of the most significant and, in some cases, potentially life-altering choices of their lives.

Over the past two years, finding the answers to these questions has become easier for patients in Southern Ontario with arrival of Dr. Hana Farhang Khoei, a Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada and Adjunct Professor at Western University. Dr. Farhang performs both Reconstructive and Cosmetic Plastic Surgeries and is one of only a handful of Canadian Plastic Surgeons certified to Practice Plastic Surgery in both Canada and the United States.

At work with focus and precision.

A graduate of the University of Toronto’s Faculty of Medicine, Dr. Farhang began her career at the renowned Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center in New York. There, she was mentored by some of the world’s foremost breast surgeons and established a network of preeminent international Plastic Surgeons. Upon returning to Canada in 2016, she worked in Toronto as a Trauma Surgeon at St Michael’s Hospital and at the McLean Cosmetic Surgery Clinic, where she specialized in Cosmetic Procedures. But in 2017, Dr. Farhang was recruited by the Windsor Regional Hospital to develop a new Breast Reconstruction program from ground up. The development of the program has since been recognized as a watershed moment for women’s health in the area, being profiled on the CBC, CTV, and local radio and news outlets. It was for this work that Dr. Farhang received the 2018 Erie St. Clair Regional Cancer Program Summit award, which recognizes those who have substantially contributed to improving the quality of life of cancer patients.

Dr. Farhang is now focusing on the needs of elective Cosmetic Surgery patients in the Windsor region. Breast augmentation, body contouring, and facial aesthetics represent just a few of the procedures she offers.

In speaking about her Aesthetic Surgery practice, Dr. Farhang said: “I’m proud of what we’ve been able to accomplish with the Breast Reconstruction program at the WRH, but I’ve also recognized the need in this region for an elevated standard of service on the elective surgery side. Patients considering breast augmentation, for example, shouldn’t have to travel to Toronto or out of province to get the kind of refined results they’re looking for. Helping women and men to achieve their desired appearance can have substantial impact on their quality of life and well-being that shouldn’t be undervalued – and that’s something I’m excited to bring to clients here.”

With expertise obtained from some of the most highly regarded institutions in North America, Dr. Hana Farhang is now helping patients in Windsor to achieve quality of life and surgical outcomes that they aren’t only satisfied with, but which make them truly happy.
